Informed Consent Form for Survey Participants

Introduction and About the Study

Hello. My name is _____ and I am coming from Sigma Research and Consulting, a research company in Bangalore. We are assisting the Centre for Public Policy at the Indian Institute of Management, Bangalore, in conducting a research study called “In Her Name: Measuring the Gender Economic Gap - A pilot study to collect sex-disaggregated household economic data in Karnataka”. The purpose of the study is to collect data on the economic conditions of men and women and measure the gap between them in this respect. We are also interested in understanding how major economic decisions in households are made and by whom.

We are collecting this data from 5000 households across 9 districts in Karnataka using this questionnaire (show the questionnaire to the participant at this point). You are being asked to take part in this study because you are a member of this community where we are conducting our study. Your village/area was selected for the study randomly and the selection of your household has also been completely random. This interview is expected to take 90 to 120 minutes and your participation in it depends entirely on your consent. We would also like to talk to one more adult member of your household.

Are there benefits to taking part in this study?

Researchers, policy makers and the general public will learn from the knowledge gained in this study because such information is crucial to formulate, implement and monitor programmes aimed at promoting household and individual welfare. While the state government is aware of and has permitted this study to take place, we are not from the government or any government organization. No schemes or programmes are going to be formulated as a direct result of this study. After we analyse the data collected from you and all other households, we will come back to share the results of this study in your area. At that time, we will provide some information to help improve your and the community’s legal literacy and awareness. During and immediately after the interview, however, we will not be in a position to offer you any money or other tangible remuneration for the time that you spend giving this interview. Therefore, there are no direct and short-term benefits because of your participation in the study.

Risks/Discomforts

You may face the following risks or discomforts by participating in this study:

- 1) You will be spending about two hours of your time for this interview; therefore, your work and household responsibilities are likely to be held up during this period. This may worry you.
- 2) You may share some personal or confidential information, for instance, about your income and expenditure that you did not intend to or want to. The fact that you are revealing this information to us might cause you some stress.
- 3) Your spouse or other family members may not like the fact that you participated in this study. They may scold, shout at you or even show their displeasure in other violent ways. This may worry you.

From our side, we will make every effort to minimize the discomfort to you during the interview. However, if you do feel some stress or face any adverse reactions on account of participating in the study, please do contact us at the contact details provided and we will take suitable action. You can also talk to and seek help from the functionaries of the local NGO whose contact details we have provided you with, about any adverse effects you have faced as a result of having participated in this study.

How will my privacy be protected?

Your responses are private and confidential. We will not talk about this interview with anyone else within or outside this community. We will discuss some of the information you give in this interview with the other person in your households whom we will be talking to. We will let you know which these pieces of information are during the course of the interview. This questionnaire will be stored under lock and key at the Centre for Public Policy at the Indian Institute of Management, Bangalore. Only the principal investigator and the study team will have access to the information you give for research purposes only. The questionnaires will be shredded on the completion of the study. The results of the study may be published in newspapers/journals or presented in conferences, but no names will be associated when we discuss the findings.

What are my rights if I participate in this study?

Your participation in this research project is completely voluntary. You may choose to take part or not take part in the study. If you choose to take part, you also have the right to end your participation at any time. You may refuse to answer any questions asked during the interview. You can ask me any questions about this study now or in the future. No matter what your decision is, there will be neither prize nor penalty to you.

Who can answer my questions about the study?

Please feel free to contact the project team at 080-26993458 if you have any questions or concerns about this study and your rights as a participant, or if you think you have been treated unfairly and have been hurt by joining the study. Either the project director or other staff working on the project will answer your questions and help you. The Indian Institute of Management, Bangalore, however, does not have any programme to provide compensation to you if you experience any adverse effects which are not the fault of the interviewers.

If you have read this document or if the document has been read and explained to you,

- Do you have any questions about the information that I have provided?
- Would you like anything to be re-explained to you?

If you agree to be in this study, please sign or make your mark below.
